Coordinator Meis states peace poles are typically 4-5' tall and there are not designated areas selected currently. Carl Johnson inquired if verbiage will be limited. Members agreed to see changes in policy. Director Russ Wright does not recommend designated locations within policy and will look to Arts and Parks for design when requests are received. Susan Green agreed there is enough flexibility in the policy. Carl Johnson stressed there should be a time limit to fixtures. ## DISCUSSION ITEMS

1. Parks Update

- North Cove- staff has coordination with youth organizations to find alternative recreation for the youth that frequent the park. Director Russ presented the Youth Activity Design Board's goal and policy. The first amenity proposed is a modular skate park in the deck area with a few pieces of moveable skate equipment. The other is a game area on a concrete pad surrounded by a seating wall including outdoor ping pong tables, chess/checker table, ladder toss, and corn hole. Russ Wright is currently working on quotes and receiving Council approval for funding. Bryan Heigert suggests a temporary net or a solution to keeping ping pong balls contained. Colton Whitworth is concerned the seating wall may become a trip hazard for ping pong players. Director Wright states there is 5ft clearance around the ping pong table and agrees temporary screen is a good thought.
- Davies Beach- The police and fire boats will be relocating in 2023. The floating docks on either side of the launch will be replaced this summer.
- Eagle Ridge Park- Cultural resource survey was completed in last week of April and staff will work on next steps once that report is received.
- Cedarwood Community Center- The structural engineering firm is conducting multiple analyses and bringing in special inspections to help define what work is necessary
- Centennial Woods Park- Staff has set a meeting later this month to meet with Puget Sound Energy for use of their parcel for the pump track
- Trail Master Program- Staff is still working through easement acquisitions with more appointments later this week. City is moving forward with condemnation.
- Frontier Heights Park- Staff submitted a grant application to RCO last week for development of the multi-use synthetic field and pickleball courts. Plans for the sensory garden and viewing labyrinth are being developed and revamped.
- Lions Club Fishing Derby- Taking place on May 21, 2022 at North Cove
