CURRENT CITY PROJECTS

Transportation Benefit District

The Lake Stevens City Council unanimously approved a resolution to place a 0.2% (two-tenths of one percent) sales tax increase to fund a Transportation Benefit District (TBD) on the November 8, 2022 General Election ballot. If approved by voters, the TBD would help the City access funds for safe walkways and sidewalks connections to schools, street maintenance, and grant funds for larger transportation projects designed to relieve traffic congestion.

Earlier this year more than 900 people participated in a city survey that asked community members to prioritize transportation improvement projects, such as sidewalks, streets and pathways.

“The TBD will fund local projects to improve safety for residents. It also is the way forward to provide matching funds for millions of dollars from the state and federal governments to fund larger traffic congestion relief projects,” Mayor Brett Gailey said. “Ultimately, the voters decide if this is what they want and that’s how it should be.”

The City estimates it would collect approximately $1.5 million per year through its TBD if approved by voters. Transportation projects are expensive, and current costs of materials and construction mean that municipal governments must think creatively and proactively. That’s why TBDs can be used by cities to provide matching funds for grants from state and federal governments.

Sunset Beach Park Redevelopment

The City held a design open house to hear from the community on the redevelopment of Sunset Park on July 21, 2022. During this exploratory phase, a survey was conducted that closed on August 3; the results will help ensure that design and amenity preferences reflect community priorities for the park’s redevelopment. Staff will then compile responses and work with consultants to develop a preferred design. The design will be presented to the Parks and Recreation Planning Board and City Council.
